

International Tax Planning briefing - Jersey and the UK

Date: Thursday 29th July

Venue: Central Court, 25 Southampton Buildings, London WC2A 1AL

Time: Registration from 17:30, briefing starts at 18:00 – 19:20 followed by a drinks reception.

Fee: Free

CPD: 1 hr

Jordans International are holding a seminar examining recent developments in the UK and Jersey, which will have a positive impact in international tax planning.

The event will be practical in nature. Legal issues will be clearly examined and explained, with actual case studies and practical guidance included in order to address the issues raised.

Timetable:

17:30 – 18:00 Registration

18:00 – 18:50 Presentation on Jersey Corporate, Trust and Partnership Entities
– Christopher Scholefield

18:50 – 19:20 Presentation by Martin Palmer

19:20 – 20:00 Drinks and canapés and an opportunity to talk to a member of our knowledgeable team.

Agenda:

Christopher Scholefield

A review of Jersey corporate, trust and partnership entities

- The Foundation – how many have been incorporated to date and what have they been used for?
- The Company – recent improvements to Jersey Corporate Law
- The Trust – recent developments in Jersey Trust Law
- Partnerships in Jersey

Martin Palmer

- Tax planning opportunities created by the new foreign dividend exemption for non-UK resident clients
- Small UK Companies
- UK Companies that are not small
- Interaction with Jersey Companies, Trusts and Foundations

Speakers:Christopher Scholefield -

Born and educated in Jersey, Advocate Christopher Scholefield read law at Oxford and was called to the Jersey Bar in 1987. He is a partner in the firm of Viberts concentrating on corporate and trust matters, but not to the exclusion of court work.

His cases have included representing the family of a household name entrepreneur in a dispute over his Jersey estate, numerous contentious trust matters and recently acting for Jersey politicians accused of breaking the island's electoral laws.

Martin Palmer –

Martin is the Editor of 'The Journal of International Trust and Corporate Planning' and a co-author of the publication 'International Tax Planning Using UK Companies', which is currently in its second edition to reflect new changes to taxation of foreign dividends.

Martin speaks and writes regularly on UK and international tax planning issues, and assists professional advisors and their clients in establishing UK and offshore companies and trusts for a wide variety of trading and investment activities.